

Default Fall Semester Lab Reservations

This schedule, devised by the Social Sciences Computing Committee Task Force on Lab Reservations in November 2002, is effective beginning Fall 2003, replacing the Default Schedule devised in February 2001 and effective through Fall 2002. As before, the Task Force arrived at separate schedules for the Fall and Spring semesters, and agreed that these "default" schedules would remain in effect until the Task Force was reconvened to change them. Adjustments are possible for a given semester without changing the defaults. To request an adjustment, please have your chair contact the Social Sciences Lab Director, who will try to accommodate your request by juggling the schedule, if necessary approaching others about adjusting their class times. The understanding will be, however, that classes scheduled by default have first priority. Requests for adjustments should be made by the second week of the semester prior to the semester for which the adjustment is requested.
